The Many Faces of Love

“Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It does not dishonor others, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres” (1 Cor. 13:4-7, NIV).

Sit with your spouse and silently read this passage. Then take turns reading it aloud to each other, replacing “love” with your name. Finally, tell your spouse how he/she manifests most strikingly the love of Christ in your marriage.
